Good morning Olivia,

The attached appeal is from a neighbor who lives immediately adjacent to Wren Heights. This same neighbor also appealed this project when it was first brought to planning a couple years ago. He has been threatening to appeal for some time if I wouldn't agree to at least one of his several demands. Including, to buy and disrupt part of this project and or my buying his property. Neither proposal is of interest to me, especially when couched with this threat and bullying tactic of an appeal. Wren Heights remains a very carefully conceived and complementary, public benefiting project.

I have sent this appeal to both my land use lawyer and to Jeff Tross for their input. Thank you.

Tom Kay
