Pamela,

I had a chance to look at both of these properties this morning.

Regarding 409 Idylwood. Both trees are in good condition and not declining. There is some deadwood and ice damage in the canopies, but pruning would be able to mitigate and have no impact on tree health. I can't speak to the potential structure damage but will note that the tree by the garage had its root system paved over when an asphalt "driveway" was installed to the back yard.

Regarding 2074 Turnage. The indicated douglas fir tree has obvious evidence of trunk rot. The tree is not dead, but has targets and a higher failure potential due to the rot.

Let me know if you need more.

Thanks

Tom,

If you have time tomorrow could you review these Significant TRP, I tried to go but didn't make it. Email any questions, we could ask for more information, the report from Trees plus has an isa cert but very little details about actual problems, could be a quick site visit.

The Idylwood tree report is claiming many things some of which we don't have any say over. If you want to inspect the trees and see if the tree health part of the report jives.

If not I can look next week

Thanks

Pamela,

Can you let the homeowner know we would like to do a site visit tomorrow or Monday.
